THEY FIND IT HARD TO DECIDE.

SOME WON'T VOTE FOR SENATOR.

None of the Candidates Who Have Entered the Senatorial Handicap Fill the Ideal of Some Democrats — Various Objections Raised—Preferences Expressed for Other Gentlemen—Will the Present Experience Cure the People of a Desire to Vote for Senator?

Amidst all the talk that is heard on the Senatorial matter it is apparent that some of the Greensboro Democrats are having trouble in finding a candidate to their liking. Various objections are raised as to each of the distinguished candidates now before the public, and it is nothing unusual to hear a Democrat say that he may not vote at all in the Senatorial primary. If such a feeling exists to any great extent in other parts of the State, it would seem that there is an excellent opportunity for some strong man to announce himself and develop considerable strength.

Among those for whom Democrats in this city have been heard to express a preference are Judge Henry G. Connor, of Wilson; Hon. Thomas W. Mason, of Northampton county, and Frank I. Osborne, Esq., of Charlotte.

For many years there has been an unwritten law that North Carolina's two Senators should come from the eastern and western sections of the State, respectively, and since, according to this rule, the next Senator should be furnished by the East, Mr. Osborne might be deemed ineligible. In addition to this, he has announced to his friends that he would not be a candidate, at least not this year. It is believed, however, that he will be a candidate to succeed Pritchard in 1902.

Mr. Mason is one of the best known and most popular men in the State, of considerable experience in politics. He is also a man of a high order of ability and unquestioned integrity, and would represent his State with honor in any position. He was the nominee of the Democratic caucus for Senator in 1895, when Marion Butler was elected by the Fusion Legislature.

When Judge Connor was in Greensboro week before last, attending the hearing of the tax assessment case, he was approached by a number of his friends in this city in reference to becoming a candidate before the Democratic primary, but to each of them he expressed himself as unwilling to enter the race. He probably has more admirers in this section than either of the gentlemen named above, and his friends would take great pleasure in voting for him. However, it is claimed by some that he has pledged his vote to one of the candidates now before the people.

It is said by some who are in a position to know that Judge Connor's ambition leads toward the Supreme Court, and this may have kept him from entering the race for the Senate.

A Democrat who doesn't think much of the primary system, terming it Populistic, said today that he hoped the present experience would cure the people of North Garolina of a desire to vote directly for United States Senator.

Mr. Trogdon's Chrysanthemums.

It is early in the season for chrysanthemums, but Mr. S. L. Trogdon has some in fine bloom at his residence on Humphrey avenue. They are of a dwarf variety and bloom from a month to six weeks in advance of other varieties.

Mr. Trogdon is a great lover of flowers and delights in their cultivation, often being successful when others fail.

Will Take Post Graduate Courses.

Misses Wilhelmina Conrad, of Durham, and Sue Nash, of Hillsboro, who were among the brightest members of the graduating class of the State Normal and Industrial College this year, have returned to the institution to pursue post graduate courses. They will also teach in the Normal Practice School.

Civil Service Examinations.

A civil service examination for positions in the departments at Washington will be held at the postoffice in this city on Saturday of this week. Next Wednesday an examination for positions as clerk and carrier in the Greensboro postoffice will be held.

DEATH OF DR. HUNTER M'GUIRE.

Stonewall Jackson's Old Physician Passes Away—His Work.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 19.—Dr. Hunter McGuire, who was Stonewall Jackson's medical director, died at his country home near this city to-day, from the effects of a stroke of paralysis sustained six months ago. He was one of the most eminent surgeons in the South. He was born in Winchester, October 11, 1835, and received his medical education there and at Philadelphia. He headed the movement which brought from Philapelphia to Richmond some 300 medical students during the excitement incident to the John Brown raid; had filled the chair of surgery in the Medical College of Virginia, and founded the University College of Medicine here. He was the author of several important medical works, had served in leading positions in medical and surgical organizations of the country and was chairman of the historic committee of the Grand Camp, of Virginia, Confederate Veterans.

HANNA IS A FUNNY MAN.

QUITE A HUMORIST SAYS BRYAN.

The Democrat Thinks He Can Bear Hanna's Blame if Hoar Can Stand His Praise—Ready to Debate With Hanna on Certain Conditions.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 19.—A special train over the Missouri Pacific brought Mr. Bryan out of Kansas City today. The change from the regular coaches, with their accompanying crowds and endless hand-shaking, was evidently m st welcome to the presidential candidate for although he has made no complaint, it has been evident that the strain of the past few days, with no opportunity for rest or retirement, has had no agreeable effect upon him. This is the last of the three days' Kansas-Missouri border tour. The first stop was made at this historical city. Mr. Bryan spoke for half an hour from the rear platform.

Mr. Bryan's attention was called to a speech made at Delphia, Ind., by Senator Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee, in which the Senator was quoted as saying he was ready to debate "imperialism" with Mr. Bryan or any other Democrat. In reply to the question whether he would accept a challenge from Hanna, Mr. Bryan said:

"I know nothing of the matter except what appears in the papers. The challenge has not been received and I would not accept it if it were. While I would be glad to debate public questions with the Republican candidate for the presidency, I would not be willing to debate with one whose responsibility is less than my own. If I am elected I shall be President. If the Republican committee will certify that Mr. Hanna is to be President, in case of Republican success, I shall willingly meet him in joint debate."

Mr. Bryan was also asked if he had anything to say in reply to Mr. Hanna's charge that he was influenced by sinister motives in securing the ratification of the treaty with Spain. To this he replied: "I have given my reasons for believing it better to ratify the treaty and declare the nation's policy by resolution, and the voters have an opportunity to pass judgment upon my reasons. I must confess, however, that Mr. Hanna is an expert when he discusses sinister motives, but I can stand his criticism if Senator Hoar can endure his praise."

In his address Mr. Bryan referred to a report made by Senator Hanna and said: "I read in the morning paper a speech made by Mr. Hanna, yesterday, in which he said there are no trusts. When I used to want humorous reading I would go to those books which contained a collection of the writings of humorists. But now when I want to read something funny I read Mr. Hanna's serious campaign speeches. 'There are no trusts.' Can you expect the Republican party to destroy the trusts when the leader of the Republican party says there are no trusts?"

CHAFFEE REPORTS 43 MURDERED

SQUADS CUT DOWN BY ESCORTS.

Another One Attacked but Escaped to the Mountains—The Empress Says She Will Return to Pekin if Protection is Guaranteed—This the Ministers are Unable to do—10,000 Allies to Winter in Pekin.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The War Department has received the following dispatch from General Chaffee, dated Pekin, the seventeenth: "Two daughters of Atwater and twenty-six others were murdered at Taynan July 9. Clapp and wife and four others were murdered at Taiku July 31. Atwater's wife and two children and six others were murdered by their escort near Pen Chow Fu August 15, in the morning in Shansi province."

The same message reports six persons, including Dixon and wife, Occurren and wife, and a single gentleman and single lady as having escaped into the mountains from the mission twenty miles north of Takuan. They escaped on horseback and possibly may have evaded pursuers.

ATTACK ON PETANG.

Taku, Sept. 20.—Attacked Petang forts at daybreak; heavy cannonading now going on.

BRITISH AHEAD OF GERMANS.

Pekin, Sept. 13, via Shanghai, Sept. 19.—Details of the capture Lianghsaing give the British the credit of climbing the city walls and planting their flag ten minutes ahead of the Germans.

EMPRESS WILLING TO RETURN.

Pekin, Sept. 20.—The Dowager Empress has expressed her willingness to return to Pekin if she is guaranteed protection. The general in command and the ministers of the Powers are unwilling to assume such responsibility. A number of small bands of Boxers are reported in the neighborhood. Indications are that ten thousand allies will winter in Pekin. The German force will be the largest.

Gov. Saaers Says 12,000 Lives Were Lost.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 19—Governor Sayers tonight wired the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The situation tonight in all parts of the stricken district, so far as known to me, is improved, and will, I believe, should we have fair weather, continue to improve. The method of distributing the benefactions of the people has become systematized and has been reduced to the lowest expenses possible and in this I have had the hearty and voluntary assistance of the railway, express, telegraphic and telephone companies, all of whom have promptly and without charge transmitted supplies and messages besides contributing to the relief of the sufferers. Galveston is being managed by its own municipal authorities, supplemented by the assistance of committees composed of its best citizens, and also by the aid of General Scurry. I am also informed that the United States Marshal, Dr. Gran, has rendered and is rendering most valuable aid.

"The loss of life occasioned by the storm in Galveston and elsewhere on the Southern coast cannot be less than 12,000 lives, while the loss of property will probably aggregate $20,000,000. Notwithstanding this severe affliction, I have every confidence that the stricken districts will rapidly revive and that Galveston will, from her present desolation and sorrow, arise with renewed strength and vigor."

PRODUCT OF REVOLUTION MILLS.

The Only Concern in the South Manufacturing Canton Flannel.

The Telegram was today shown a sample of the product of the Revolution Mills, which were recently put in operation. The compamy manufactures canton flannel exclusively, making goods of a fine fabric and high grade. It may not be generally known, but it is a fact that this is the only concern in the entire South manufacturing this class of goods.

Everything is running very satisfactorily and the goods are put directly on the market.

BOER ARMY GONE.

Nothing Left, the Army Dispersed and the Guns Destroyed.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

HUNDREDS DRIVEN FROM WORK

At Hazleton Numbers of Miners in Sympathy With the Operators — Armed Guards Protecting Threatened Mines—Men Desire Work and Protection—Poorer People Suffering and Asking Aid — A False Prophet.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Sept. 20. — The strike situation in the Pennsylvania coal field is unchanged, except in the Lehigh district, where a general feeling of tranquility prevails. At Hazleton hundreds of willing workers, in thorough sympathy with their employers, have been driven from their work by strikers. Armed guards are protecting the threatened miners. It is feared that trouble will ensue.

Wilkesbarre operators report receiving many applications from men who desire work and protection. On the other hand, the strikers report substantial gains in the Hazleton district.

Near Luzerine the men have been driven from their work by strikers. Already the poorer people are suffering and asking aid.

At Scranton the operators profess to believe the strike will end this week.

EFFORTS TO ARBITRATE FAIL.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 20.—Labor agitators have failed again for a chance of arbitration between the operators and employees.

G. B. Markle & Co., operators at Jeddo, say the outlook for an early settlement of the trouble is very promising. President Mithell declared yesterday that the collieries of th's firm would certainly be obliged to close down today, as not enough men would report to operate them efficiently. He proved to be a false prophet, as the Markle collieries all worked today, and with more hands than they had yesterday.

A NEVADA ESCAPADE.

Three Men Clean up a Bank, Hop on Their Horses and Ride Gallantly Away.

Winnemucca, Nev., Sept. 19.—The first National Bank was robbed of about $13,000 at noon today by three men who entered the front door of the building and with revolvers made all who were present throw up their hands. There were five people in the bank at the time—Cashier Nixon, Assistant Cashier McBrade, Book-Keeper Hill, Stenographer Calhoun, and a horse buyer named Johnson. The robbers threatened with instant death the first man who made a show of resistance.

One robber at the point of a pistol made Cashier Nixon open the safe and take from it three sacks of gold coin. They threw this into an ore sack together with all the gold coin in the office drawer. The robbers then marched the five men out through a back door to an alley, where three horses were waiting. The men were kept covered with guns until the desperadoes mounted their horses and escaped. The whole affair occurred in but five minutes. An alarm was quickly given and several shots were fired at the desperadoes as they sped through town, but without effect. The robbers returned the shots, but no one was hit. Officers and armed citizens have started in pursuit of the robbers who took a course up the river. A posse has also started from Golgonda to head them off and it is thought they cannot escape.

NORMAL OPENS OCTOBER 4TH.

DR. M'IVER MAKES A STATEMENT.

While Guilford Furnishes Fifteen Per Cent of the Students of the State Normal and Industrial College She Furnishes Only Five Per Cent of the Graduates—Why This is True—Terms on Which Students Are Taken—The Work Required to Obtain an Education and the Exceptional Advantages Enjoyed by the Young Ladies of Greensboro.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

The State Normal and Industrial College will begin the work of its ninth year on October 4th.

On account of the change from double to single beds the number of students that can be accommodated in the dormitories is seventy less than heretofore. All the boarding places in the dormitories have been taken, and the only chance for the admission of new applicants will be by the resignation of some who now hold domitory appointments. Fifty more students can be received with board in private families near the college.

Normal students are allowed to board only in those families which agree not to take other boarders, and will agree to adopt the general regulations and restraints of the College for those who board in their homes.

A student who secures board in a private family and agrees to become a teacher for at least two years after leaving The State Normal and Industrial College has free tuition, and her only expenses for registration fee, physician's attendance, use of textbooks, library, etc., will be $14, payable when she enters.

Any young woman, of Greensboro, sixteen years old, prepared to begin the study of Algebra and Latin, and who will agree to become a teacher after leaving the College can be admitted to this College, and her expenses will be only $14 a year.

All young women in Greensboro who expect to become students should write for a copy of the catalogue containing an application to be filled out. No student, whether in Greensboro or elsewhere, will be admitted until she has filled out the formal application blank, and written a letter to the President enclosing a written statement from her last teacher, as to her conduct and habits of study in the last school she attended.

Unless there are exceptional reasons for doing so, girls under sixteen years of age ought not to enter the State Normal and Industrial College, where the average student is nineteen years old. These young girls frequently appear to be better prepared to enter than older girls, but the older girls will generally endure the drudgery of the four years' course of study with less danger to their health, and with better success generally.

It is a remarkable fact that while Greensboro and Guilford county send more students to the College than any other three counties in the State, yet it does not show up so favorably in the roll of graduates of the College. Guilford county furnishes about 15 per cent. of the students, but only 5 per cent. of the graduates are Guilford county people.

I think this is due to two causes. One is that a large number of students in Greensboro enter the College for the commercial course to prepare themselves for the business offices of the city. In most of the business offices of the city one or more stenographers or bookkeepers trained at the State Normal and Industrial College will be found.

But another reason is that a large number enter the College without thorough preparation and when they are too young to get the most advantage from the course of study offered. The further fact that so many "day scholars," as they are called, in all colleges insist upon dividing their time and attention between their college work and the social life of the communities in which they live is a disadvantage in their educational life as compared with that of boarders who leave their homes, and, as a rule, devote their attention entirely to their college work without reference to the social life of the community in which the college is located.

There are very few young women in North Carolina who have the edu-

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 20.—Mrs. James E. Boyd, of Greensboro is the guest of Mrs. Russell at the executive mansion.

Chairman Simmons is at Pittsboro, appearing in defence of the election officers in Chatham county whom the fusionists are trying to prosecute. It appears that feeling runs pretty high there.

A very low rate is given by the railways to the State fair. It is said the rates are even more favorable than those given last year.

Revenue officers cut up the illicit distillery of a bold moonshiner named Holden in the northern part of this county. He was brought here and gave bond three weeks ago, went home and at once started another distillery. The latter has been captured but Holden fled. Of course his bond was forfeited, but what does a moonshiner care for that?

There are now 470 patients in the insane asylum here. About half a dozen of these are pay patients who are being treated for the morphine or whiskey habit. There has been no sickness at the asylum during the summer. The water supply is excellent. There are four artisian wells

The motion of the Western Union Telegraph Company for a restraining order against the State officials as regards the collection of taxes on the corporation commission's assessment of 1900, was to have been heard before judge Simonton at Asheville, but the motion was not resisted and it continues in force under the former order.

Mention has been made of the wreck of the Methodist and Baptist churches at Youngsville, by a cyclone. The wreckage of the Methodist church was sold for $75.

President F. P. Venable, of the University, was here yesterday. He says over 440 students are now present. Almost a dozen are young ladies. It is not expected that the numbers of female students will greatly increase until a special building is provided for them. They make a fine record. Of those who graduated last year, Miss Alice Jones is a member of the faculty of St. Mary's College here; Miss Burke of Peace Institute; Miss Marcia Latham, (who won two of the highest prizes) in Texas, Miss Leah Jones at Brookline, Mass., Miss Sallie Stockond doing special historical work.

Two new members of the faculty at the University are at work, these being professors Thomas Ruffin of the law and Wharton of the chemistry department.

Senator Marion Butler decides that he will make Raleigh his home and practice law here. A prominent republican says he makes a mistake in not settling in some Northern or Western city.

The advance in the price of cotton seed this season keeps pace with that of cotton. A year ago seed sold for only 12½ cents a bushel, while now they bring 22½ cents.

D. D. Blue of Aberdeen files a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court here.

During the State fair here next month a State literary and historical society is to be formed. Some years ago an effort was made to form a historical society, but it soon come to naught. Now the State has provided a spacious room or hall for a historical collection. There are thousands of objects in the State of historic interest and if the owners will show their public pride by sending these, or even a tithe of them to the museum, a great collection will quickly be formed.

The penitentiary officials estimate this season's cotton crop at 1400 bales.

The State Sunday School Convention of the negro Baptists is in session here. Rev. Dr. N. T. Roberts is its president; J. D. Pair, secretary; Rev. G. W. Moore, general missionary.

No less than nine men who in the past 26 years committed murders in this county are yet at large. Some of them are in other counties.

Present Works "Entirely Inadequate to Furnish the Needed Fire Protection and Meet the Present Demands to Say Nothing of the Future Requirements."

(Continuation of Engineer Gray's report.)

The new water tower and certain changes in the pipe system should be made at the earliest possible date, so as to furnish the much needed fire protection. The balance of the pipe system can be put in as demands are made for water in these streets.

It would be advisable to put in a filter plant at the pumping station as a temporary relief, capable of filtering 1,500,000 gallons per day, which would be ample until the source of supply can be transferred to the South Buffalo Creek. Water taken from any of these creeks for domestic purposes should be filtered.

Should you however fail to purchase the present system of works and decide to build an entirely new plant, then it is recommended that you adopt South Buffalo creek as a source of supply, and build a new distribution system as outlined on plan submitted, called "South Buffalo Project."

ESTIMATED COST OF WORK RECOMMENDED.

It is estimated that the cost of making the additions and changes to the present system, will, including a filter plant, amount to $74,940, to which must be added to price paid for the present system, not to exceed $74,833, or a total cost of $149,773.

The estimated cost of transferring at once the source of supply to South Buffalo creek, including the additions and changes in the present system, amounts to $140,755, to which must be added $74,833 for the present system, or a total of $215,788.

The difference between these two projects amounts to $66,000 in round numbers, and with interest at 5 per cent. the saving will be $3,300 per annum, which in 5 years would be a total of $16,500, the amount that will have been saved by using the North Buffalo creek for this period.

It is my opinion that the present source of supply can be relied upon to furnish the required amount of water for this length of time, but the change can be made sooner if found necessary.

It is recommended that when the source of supply is transferred to South Buffalo creek, a 16-inch force main should be laid from the pumping station to the stand pipe or water tower. A force main 12 inches in diameter could be laid for $8,650 less, but the friction head due to pumping 2,000,000 gallons per day will be 36½ feet greater in the 12-inch than in the 16-inch main, and the additional cost of coal per annum for pumping against this head will more than pay the interest charges on the difference in the first cost of the two sizes of pipes.

Pumps with a duty of 60,000,000 foot pounds per 100 pounds of coal, will require 28 pounds of coal to raise 2,000,000 gallons of water one foot high, and for 36½ feet, 0.511 tons, which at $3.60 per net tons will amount to $671.60 per annum, which captalized at 5 per cent. equals $13,432, showing that it would be more economical to lay the 16-inch force main.

The question as to how much the city can afford to pay for the water works is somewhat difficult to answer. There are many things to be considered other than the mere cost of duplicating the system, such as the inconvenience occasioned by tearing up your streets to put in new works, the trouble and annoyance caused by having two systems of water works in the city, etc. On the other hand the present system of water works, in their present condition, IS ENTIRELY INADEQUATE TO FURNISH THE NEEDED FIRE PROTECTION AND MEET THE PRESENT DEMANDS, TO SAY NOTHING OF THE FUTURE REQUIREMENTS. Therefore the city, in justice to its taxpayers, cannot afford to pay a high premium for these works.

A previously stated, the value of the works to the city, based upon the estimated cost of constructing a duplicate system, deducting for depreciation and small pipes, amounts to $74,833, and by estimating the valuation upon its earning capacity, deducting for certain additions and changes to the pipe system, and adding the cost of a filter plant, the value amounts to $91,725, providing the gross income equals the amount previously given.

KHEDIVE OF EGYPT.

Mode of Life and Characteristics of Abbas.

His Tastes and Habits Are More Those of an English Country Gentleman Than of an Oriental Sovereign.

The life of his highness is very different from that which in the western world is usually associated with an eastern sovereign. To begin with, the khedive has received a splendid European education. He learned English as a child under tutors specially selected and sent to Cairo for his benefit and that of his brother, Prince Mehemet. When 12 years of age he entered the celebrated Haxius school, at Geneva, and afterward continued his scholastic career at the Theresianum, at Vienna, from which he was called by the sudden death of his father, Khedive Tewfik, to ascend the throne of Egypt at the age of 18, in 1892. At Vienna he was something of a favorite with the Austrian emperor, who also saw that the prince was given a military training in addition to his ordinary school work. Naturally highly intelligent, Abbas proved himself both industrious and capable. He has the gift of tongues, and can talk in at least six languages—English, French, German, Italian, Turkish and Arabic, the last being in common use throughout Egypt. Every official day of his life he will most probably converse in at least four of these languages.

His highness, says the London Chronicle, has a prodigious memory and great capacity for mastering detail. He is a hard worker, and every moment of his time is parcelled out with exactness. He usually rises at 5:30 in the morning, and then goes out riding, an exercise of which he is passionately fond, till about eight, when he has breakfast. Soon afterward he is busily engaged in state affairs with his secretaries and ministers, and this fills up the forenoon till luncheon; but, that meal over, he is at work again with his staff until his public reception hour comes around, when he meets all those who have the right to call upon him and a good number who haven't. In the evening there are dinners, balls, receptions, the opera and the theater. All this gives one the impression, a perfectly correct one, that Abbas is no languid oriental, but a prince of high ability and remarkable energy.

Nor is he less interesting from the purely domestic point of view. As a sovereign he has to be a great deal at the state palaces of Abdin, at Cairo, and Ras-el-Tin, at Alexandria, the former being the winter, the latter the summer capital of Egypt, but he likes nothing better than to leave these for his more private palaces of Koubbeh or Montazah, his seaside place. Koubbeh is some five miles from Cairo, and here his highness lives after much the same fashion as might a great English landowner of the most modern type. He keeps a splendid stud, and his beautiful horses, English bred as well as Arabs, are his special pride. On the estate itself he has brought into use the latest things in American agricultural machinery, and he takes an active part in the supervision of his numerous farms and cotton plantations in the Nile valley—from which, indeed, he derives the larger part of his vast private wealth. His official income is £100,000 a year, and an equal amount is paid to the other members of the Khedivial family. Besides his pronounced taste for the life of a country gentleman, Abbas has a taste, or rather a passion, which is not generally shared by country gentlemen. He is a skilled musician, and is devoted to music. He keeps a private band of about 50 performers, who find in him a generous patron but a relentless critic. Woe betide the man who makes a false note!

His highness is a strict Mahometan, and as such eschews both wines and spirits. His abstinence goes even further, for in a country where everybody smokes he will have nothing to do with the fragrant weed. Like his father he is a monogamist, although his religion allows him four wives—if he wants them. He is known to be greatly attached to his consort, who was a Circassian lady of the khedivial household before her marriage. They have several daughters and one son, the heir apparent, who was born in February of last year. By a special decree of the sultan, who is still suzerain of Egypt, the khedivial descends directly from father to son in the western manner. The domestic entourage of the khedive is presided over by the dowager khedivah, or khedivah mere, as the princess is called. This is in accordance with usual oriental custom, which accords precedence to a man's mother over his wife.

Hard to Suit.

Beauty In and Behind Glasses

Some glasses may be disfiguring Clothes may be ill-fitting or becoming—it depends upon who fits them and how. "Do they fit?"—is a question often asked, regarding shoes or clothes, but not always thought of in connection with eye-glasses. You can wear cheap, untidy clothes and injure your reputation only. You wear cheap illy fitting glasses only at the risk of injuring your eyesight. An illy fitting shoe makes itself known by pain. Poor eyeglasses give no warning until the harm is done. Everybody reads, but all do not read understandingly. Almost any one can fit you with glasses, but will you be "fitted" after he has "fitted" you? We can assist in prolonging your eyes' usefulness and good vision.

We are experts in eyeglass fitting.

The Head of the House has many responsibilities resting upon him, and among those of a serious character is the health of the family. Those who understand the laws of hygiene know that sewer gas from defective pipes, and dangerous conditions arising from imperfect drainage and sewerage, breed disease, and every house should be fitted up with sanitary plumbing. Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price is now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.

THURSDAY SEPT. 20, 1900.

NEVER "TOUCHED" US.

For some time we have noticed that some papers were quoting a resolution said to have been passed by the Democratict executive committee at its last session in Raleigh. This resolution, which we took to be the correct one, said that all persons who voted the Democratic ticket in August or who votes for Bryan in November should be allowed to vote in the senatorial primary. At the same time some other papers were quoting a resolution something similar, but really quite different, as the one passed. A correspondent of the Charlotte Observer quotes this resolution and comments on it as follows:

From a resolution adopted by the State Democratic executive committee I take the following:

"Resolved, 1. That the term Democratic voters, in the Democratic platform, be construed to include all white electors and Croatan electors, who vote on the said election day for the Democratic presidential and congressional tickets, and that they be enti tled to vote in the Democratic primary as well as those who voted with us in August, but who will vote for McKinley at the time said primary is held."

What is the object of this resolution? Is it to cut out The Observer and Greensboro Telegram, or is it to make a new kind of Democrat? To reduce it under the writer's construction, it includes two and only two classes:

1. An elector who will vote for Bryan in the approaching election regardless of his past affiliation.

2. An elector who voted the Democratic ticket in August, but who will vote for McKinley in November at the time the Democratic primary will be held.

We take it that this resolution must have been offered but not passed and got out into the papers by mistake. Certainly the committee could not have desired to make the monstrous ruling that a man is compelled to vote the presidential ticket of one or the other parties as a requisite for voting in a State primary for an officer to represent the State. We take it that some gentlemen offered this resolution with the idea that it would allow a man who voted the Democratic ticket in August but who wished to vote for McKinley in November, the right to vote in the primary, his idea being that a vote for McKinley should not disqualify a man who voted Democratic in August for voting in the senatorial primary. But in fact the resolution, if it were framed for this purpose, by an unfortunate use of language makes the vote for McKinley a requisite for a vote in the primary. This is absurd. Evidently this was not the resolution as passed.

At any rate, The Telegam is on the ground floor. It voted the Democratic ticket in August and will vote for Bryan in November. Wherefore we shake with ourselves. The blessed privilege of voting for a Senator is in our reach.

With genuine regret we notice the death, which occurred yesterday, of Dr. Hunter McGuire, of Richmond, Stonewall Jackson's old physician. Dr. McGuire possessed in his later years a kind of sacredness in our minds, from his association with the beloved Jackson, and his eloquent tributes to the hero's memory.

Germany, so far, is the only power that is in for cutting off any heads in China, and for one time Germany is right.

It is announced that Russia's modesty allows her to put in a claim for the small sum of $500,000,000 indemnity from China, only. She already practically has Manchuria, the richest section of the empire.

The present alignment of the powers in China appears to be Germany and Great Britian on one side and France and Russia on the other, the United States wobbling, and the others unheard from.

QUEER WAYS OF BRIDEGROOMS

One Paid the Minister on the Installment Plan and Another in Chickens.

A bridegroom once came to the minister to engage him to perform the wedding ceremony, says Lippincott's Magazine, and after all the arrangements had been made the bridegroom-elect said, frankly:

"I tell you right now that I can't pay all in one lump the three dollars I am planning to give you for the job. I have had a cut in my wages and I won't have the three dollars to spare all at one time. I'll give you a quarter after the wedding, and then I'll come around to your house ev'ry Saturday night and pay you a quarter until I am square with you. I don't like this here gittin' married on the installment plan, but it is the best I can do."

Said a southern minister:

"One of the queerest fees I ever received was from a young negro bridegroom for whom I performed the wedding ceremony at my own home. At the close of the ceremony and just as the bridal party of five or six were about to depart the bridegroom said: 'Yo' will find de fee for yo' kindness out in a co'nah ob de po'ch, sah.' I followed the party out on the porch, and when they had gone on their way I looked in a corner of the porch, where I found a pair of fine fowls tied together by the legs. They set up a lusty squawk as I picked them up. The bridegroom had said as he went down the steps that they were 'ob his own raisin',' but I never felt quite sure of that."

GERMANS IN THIS COUNTRY.

Among the States Wisconsin Leads in the Number—Percentages of the Cities.

Milwaukee, famous for its beer, may now claim distinction as being the "German City" of the United States. There are more Germans in Milwaukee in proportion to its population than in any other city. The percentage of population is 66, and Hoboken is a close second, with 57 per cent. New York has only 38 per cent., and Chicago 37 per cent. Boston is at the bottom of the list, with a German population of only seven per cent. of the total. Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, Newark, Cincinnati and Jersey City have larger percentages of Germans in their populations than either New York or Chicago, says the New York Herald.

Among the states Wisconsin leads in proportion of residents born in Germany. It is estimated that 283,000 native born Germans are now located there, or 17 per cent. of the total population. New York, however, has the largest number of native born Germans—553,000, but this is only nine per cent of the population. Illinois has 336,000, or ten per cent. Minnesota, with 129,000, is equal to Illinois in percentage. Iowa has 144,000 Germans, but a percentage of only eight, while Massachusetts stands about at the bottom of the list, with 31,000 Germans, and a percentage of one. The United States is credited altogether with 2,993,000 German-born residents.

A MATTER OF ALTITUDE.

Her Unrefined Papa Was the Only One to Whom It Made No Difference.

"I was on a train coming east not long ago," said a government official to a Washington Star reporter, "and I struck up an acquaintance with a little girl about seven years of age, who was traveling with her aunt. She was from the west, but had passed the greater part of her life in Boston and was the most thoroughly Bostonian youngster I ever saw. She was really overwhelming in her mannerisms, but none the less interesting on that account. I had spoken to her of my own little girl about her age being in North Carolina.

"'Do you think,' she said, in her elaborate manner, 'that the altitude is proper there?'

"I said I thought it was about right.

"'I had thought it was too low, perhaps,' she went on, 'but I suppose you know best.' With us, aunty and I—and she said 'ahnty' in real Bostonese—'prefer the lower altitudes and are going to Boston. Mamma and brother prefer the higher altitudes and are going to the mountains, or rather they have already gone.'

"'And your father?' I asked, 'where does he go?'

"'Oh,' she exclaimed, in quite a hopeless tone, 'papa isn't at all refined; any kind of an altitude suits him.'"

NORMAL OPENS OCTOBER 4TH.

cational opportunity of the young women of Greensboro. A good public school system, free of financial expense except the purchase of books, prepares the young women for this or the Greensboro Female College at comparatively small cost in either institution. If she desires to do so, she can enter the State Normal and Industrial College, and $14 annually will pay for her registration, physician's attendance, the use of text-books, library, etc.; $40 additional annually will pay for tuition. Moreover, if she makes the agreement to teach in the public or private schools of the State after leaving the College, her tuition will be free. Under such circumstances every ambitious girl in Greensboro ought to become an educated woman.

The difficulty about securing an education is largely the same the world over. No amount of opportunity will enable those to become educated who are anwilling to undergo the most rigid discipline. We frequently speak of the cost of an education and talk about it as if the cost could be measured in money.

There are three elements to be considered in calculating the cost. (1). Education does cost money and it costs time, which is money. (2) Education costs self-denial, and grinding drudgery on the part of the person who is to be educated. Sharpening an axe on a grind stone is not a bad illustration of the process of sharpening the wits of the children of men by self-denial and the concentration of study. (3.) The third element in the cost of an education is the wear and tear incident to the toil of the teacher. who must kindle the fires of ambition in his pupils, give them hope, inspiration, and courage for the battle necessary to live successfully.

"Forgetting this triple alliance, parents sometimes think the cost of education falls upon them, and teachers sometimes think it falls upon them. The fact is that the most important element is that which neither the teacher nor the parent can wholly supply. The drudgery done by young men and women who really become scholars is the hardest, most exacting labor in the world. Comparatively speaking, few there are who will endure it. Yet there are those who are anxious to submit themselves to the rigid discipline necessary for growth and strength, and sometimes without the aid of parents or teachers they go through the doubly hard process of educating themselves.

Let us not fail to appreciate the youth in this or any other community willing to practice the self-denial and do the drudgery necessary to securing an education. Every well wisher of this city ought to encourage every ambitious boy and girl within its border to develop to the utmost all the powers with which he or she may be endowed. Fortunately the person who has ordinary natural endowments and is willing to pay his or her part of the cost of an education is not apt to fail. Fortunately too for those who are not brilliant in natural endowments, those who do their best in this world usually come out near the head of the procession, and frequently pass by the man or woman who at the beginning of life's journey appeared to be beyond their possible reach.

I have said all this because I hope that it may fall under the eye of some timid person who will resolve to be an educated man or woman, and also with the hope that some parents may read it and take a more rational view of the great subject of training their children. Too frequently children are encouraged to discontinue their school work at a very immature age.

"You can plant flowers in the spring that will blossom in the summer and die in the winter, but this is not the way to secure the growth and strength and life of the oak.

C. D. McIver.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free, Regular size 50 and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

An Up-to-Date Breakdown.—"Yes, they eloped in an automobile." "That was nice." "Oh, I don't know. They came back in a hayrack, dragging the auto after them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Seeing and Hearing.—A boarder "down east," accustomed to the noise of a city square, writes back that "The stillness is so great at night you can hear it. The darkness also is visible."—Boston Transcript.

How It Worked.—Mrs. Hix—"I don't believe in these faith cures brought about by the laying on of hands." Mrs. Dix—"Well, I do. I cured my little boy of the cigarette habit in that way."—Pearson's Weekly.

Urgent.—A Winfield lawyer received a letter from a client the other day urging him to hasten a certain collection. "I am hard up," concluded the writer, "and need the money bad. Hoping this will find you the same, I am yours," etc.—Kansas City Journal.

"Stop!" she cried, as he attempted to kiss her. "You must!" He, having had but little experience in this sort of thing, was inclined to take her at her word. She noticed it and hastened to repeat: "Stop! You mussed—my hair." Then he resumed, but more carefully.—Catholic Standard.

Deficiency in the Attic.—"I am a self-made man," said the proud individual. "Well, you are all right, except as to your head," commented the other part of the conversation. "How is that?" "The part you talk with is out of proportion with the part you think with."—Baltimore American.

Druggists' Prices.—Druggist—"People think they are very funny when they talk about the exorbitant prices asked by apothecaries." Customer—"So there is nothing in it, eh?" Druggist—"No, indeed. I consider my prices quite reasonable. I never ask for an article anywhere near as much as I should like to."—Boston Transcript.

Sad Fate of the Boy Who Played Foul in the Game of Fighting.

"I don't know what to make of that boy of mine," said the fond father, who is always talking about his son, getting his friend in a corner where he couldn't escape, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. "When I went home last night my wife told me that he had been fighting with one of the neighbor's boys, and needed a talking to, so I summoned him and said, sternly:

"'What have you been doing, my son?'

"'Fighting,' he answered, shortly, looking me straight in the eye.

"'So I see,' said I, looking him over.

"'He's bigger than I' he flashed, with a ring in his voice.

"'Who?'

"'Jimmy Jones.'

"'So you have been fighting with Jimmy Jones?'

"'Yes,' he said.

"'Son,' said I, sternly, 'have you forgotten what I said about fighting?'

"'He hit me on the cheek!' shouted my boy, with kindling eye.

"'Oh, son, son,' said I, 'don't you know what the Bible says about turning the other cheek?'

"'I remembered it, pop—honest, I did—and turned the other cheek, but instead of hitting me there, he smashed me on the nose! Say, pop, wasn't that a foul?'

"'It looks like it, son,' said I, trying hard not to laugh.

"'That's what I thought,' he exclaimed as quick as a wink, 'so I sailed in and licked the stuffin' out of him! 'Tain't no use, pop,' interposed the boy, quickly, forestalling my remarks, 'he's been to Sunday school just as much as I have and knows the proper thing to do as well as I do!'

"Now, what could I say to that," exclaimed the fond father, beaming with satisfaction.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Nautical Miles and Knots.

Nautical miles and knots are again in a state of confusion. This is the natural result of the shattering of the maiden record by the steamer Deutschland. We are told that she steamed 3,044 knots, when, as a matter of fact, she traversed that number of nautical miles. A nautical mile is not a knot. The latter is the mark put on a log line to show the rate of speed at which the vessel is proceeding. When a certain number of knots run out on the line in 28 seconds it demonstrates that the vessel is making that many miles an hour. The knot is proportional to the mile, but it is not a mile. It is 47 feet and a fraction. No sailor man would speak of a vessel traveling so many knots, though he would speak of her going at the rate of so many knots an hour. This is one of the little things that betray the difference between the seaman and the landsman.—N. Y. Times.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRAH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucuous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure ond so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

As a result of the recent strike of the Charlotte plumbers, new hours and new wages were agreed upon. These went into effect yesterday, the terms being $3 per day of nine hours.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and oth-aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

"Don't be alarmed, madam," answered the physician, assuringly; "I'll relieve him of that."

The progressive nations of the world are the great food consuming nations. Good food well digested gives strength. If you cannot digest all you eat, you need Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. You need not diet yourself. It contains all of the digestants combined with the best known tonics and reconstructives. It will even digest all classes of foods in a bottle. No other preparations will do this. It instantly relieves and quickly cures all stomach troubles. Howard Gardner.

WINE OF CARDUI
How a Woman Suffers.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 28.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.
Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.
McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui
It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues— despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhœa. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride; to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

Got It Done.

An intelligent-looking boy walked into a grocer's shop the other day, and, reading from a paper, said:

"I want six pounds of sugar at 2¼d a pound."

"Yes," said the English shopman, "that will be one and three halfpence."

"Eleven pounds of rice at 1½d a pound."

"One and fourpence halfpenny," commented the grocer.

"Four pounds of tea at 1s 8d a pound."

"Six and eight."

And so he continued: "Five pounds of coffee at 1s 10d, seven tins of milk at 5½d, four tins of tomatoes at 6½d, eight tins of sardines at 1s 1½d."

The shopman made out the bill and handed it to the lad, saying: "Did your mother send the money or does she want them entered?"

"My mother didn't send me at all," said the boy seizing hold of the bill. "It's my arithmetic lesson, and I had to get it done somehow."

Kruger's Prophetic Pipe.

A curious story is told of President Kruger, for which a Natal newspaper is responsible. Many years ago the president bought from an old half-breed woman peddlar a merschaum pipe, to which she ascribed the power of foretelling the future. The old woman predicted that three important changes in his life would be foretold by accidents befalling the pipe. Early in the year 1881, before the independence of the Transvaale was modified, the stem came to pieces, a little before the Jameson raid he chipped a piece off the bowl and just before his departure for the Bloemfontein conference last year the pipe fell to the ground and was smashed to fragments.

Another Prodigy.

"Well, sir," said a smallish man with big blue veins on his temples, "I don't know what to do with my boy. I'm awfully worried about him. It seems to me that he's too precocious. We can't keep him from studying. He's only 10 years old, but in school they have to put him in classes with children who range all the way from 14 to 17. I'm afraid he'll overtax himself."

"Oh, pshaw!" said a proud-appearing young fellow who was clinging to a strap a little nearer the door, "don't be alarmed. My boy beats that. He's only six weeks old and knows all the college yells, right now."

Washing Him Away.

The other day an amateur nurse in South Africa went up to a doctor and asked him what she must do.

"You should have learnt that before you came here," the doctor replied. "Do anything that wants doing."

The nurse went up to a handsome but wounded Highlander, and said:

"Will you let me wash your face?"

The soldier turned and answered:

"Yes, but hurry up. I've had my face washed six times since breakfast, and there's two more ladies I've promised to wash me. But I hope to get a snooze before tea."

Signaling the Bank Rate.

There is quite a mild excitement just now at the Bank of England because of an innovation at that venerable and conservative institution. A flagstaff has actually been placed above the building, and many are shaking their heads at the sudden giddiness of the Old Lady of Threadneedle street. The suggestion has been made in all seriousness that numbers might well be placed on the flagstaff and the bank rates indicated from time to time by the height of the flag on the pole.

PERSONALS.

The salary of Count Waldersee in China will not exceed 2,000 marks ($500) a month, but he will have 10,000 marks besides for expenses.

Of all the line and staff generals in the United States army at present only two, Ludlow and J. M. Wilson, are graduates of West Point.

The women of Pietermariztburg are getting up a memorial to the late Lieutenant Roberts, son of the British commander. It will be in the form of a stained glass window in the garrison church. It is also intedned as a mark of sympathy with Lord and Lady Roberts.

A Midnight Escapade.

It was midnight as a thundering knock came at the door of room No. 48, Phenix hotel.

"What is wanted?" asked the occupant as he sat up in bed with furiously beating heart.

"We want you! Open this door!"

"Never!"

"Then take the consequences."

The man sprang out of bed and hurriedly dressed himself. His face was pale and his hands trembled, but he shut his lips with a determination to sell his life dearly. He heard footsteps moving in the hall, and presently his door was burst from its hinges and a dozen men burst into the room. They found him standing with a revolver in each hand and the light of battle in his eyes.

"You may hang me," he said in a low, tense voice, "but 12 of you will go into the other world before me."

"Who said anything about hanging?" inquired a voice.

"But you have come for that. Twelve years ago in this town I killed four men. You have recognized me and have come for revenge."

"Not much, stranger. We don't know anything about the four men and don't want to. You live in Missouri, don't you?"

"I do."

"Well, what we wanted to ask was whether three of a kind beat a straight in your state."

"They do not."

"Then that's all, and you can go back to your snooze. Sorry to have disturbed you, but we had a dispute and wanted to settle it."—New York Sun.

Man's Fool Age.

A medical man has discovered that neither in youth nor old age is a man likely to make the biggest fool of himself. Extreme youth usually is considered not to have arrived at the dignity of years of discretion, yet a homely proverb would have us believe that "there is no fool like an old fool." This medical observer has broached the theory that there is an "aberration period of middle life," between the ages of 57 and 62. "If," he says, "a careful examination be made of the preventible disasters of the last 20 years and of the ages of those who were held responsible by the verdict of mankind for such lamentable issues, there will be found a strange coincidence in the range of their ages."

Here is an interesting and practically inexhaustible field for investigation. Politicians who are "agin the government" may trace the blunders of an administration to the sinister influence of some boss who was passing through the fatal period at the time, and "regrettable incidents" of all kinds, in war or peace, may be traced to their true origin. In time no doubt we shall appreciate the necessity of requiring all public men, on entering the fatal period, to take a five years' holiday and to resume work only when they have passed the age of aberration.—New York Press.

Explained.

"Has he money?"

"No."

"Then he probably has family and position."

"No; he is merely a fine man."

"Then why in the world is Maud marrying him?"

"For love, I understand."

"Well, I always did think Maud was—well, queer."—Colorado Springs Gazette.

A presidential elector in New York receives the sum of $15 for each day in attendance at Albany, together with "10 cents per mile each way from his place of residence by the most traveled route to the place of meeting."

Any one can ride prosperity and a camel when they walk, but when they run most persons are apt to be hurt.

CATARRH

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so.

The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all parts of the system.

Salves, washes and sprays are unsatisfactory and disappointing, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does. It cleanses the blood of the poison and eliminates from the system all catarrhal secretions, and thus cures thoroughly and permanently the worst cases.

Mr. P. H. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., writes: "Having been a terrible sufferer from Catarrh, and being now sound and well, the question often put to me is, 'What cured you?' In answer I feel it my duty to state that Swift's Specific is the medicine. I am such a true believer in the efficacy of Swift's Specific that I can honestly and conscientiously recommend it to any one suffering from Catarrh. Have recommended it to many, and am happy to say that those whom I have induced to use it can bear me out in the statement that it will cure any case of Catarrh if taken according to directions."

SSS is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the greatest of all blood medicines and tonics.

If you have Catarrh don't wait until it becomes deep-seated and chronic, but begin at once the use of S. S. S., and send for our book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians about your case.

Irrigation in Rocky Mountains.

In the six Rocky mountain states of Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Utah and Wyoming, agriculture is largely dependent on irrigation. The distribution of the water supply is regulated by law, and costs about one dollar per acre. Nebraska and Wyoming have water commissioners, who receive all applications and determine all controversies. In the other four states there is much litigation. But when the ranchman's water rights are once established, he thinks himself far more sure of regular crops than the farmer in "the humid states," where there is always liability of drought or excessive rainfall, while he has the exact amount of moisture he needs, just when he wants it, and at no other time —and always on tap.

HONEST ADS THE BEST

Persons in certain occupations foster the fallacy that it detracts from their dignity to invite custom by newspaper advertisements. Yet a New York lawyer recently said that many members of the bar in that city who do not advertise have treir agents about the cnurts and prisons to solicit patronage; and there are dentists who employ "pullers-in," doctors who maintain carriages which they do not need in order to appear busy, and the like. Whether advertising is dignified depends on its character. A frank newspaper announcement is more honorable and more becoming than many other methods of getting business which are frequently employed.
